Fairness, wit, an ability to make the subject interesting, the unending desire to help young people further their knowledge — these are the characteristics which gain the respect of students. A teacher capable of instilling her homeroom with pride in DHS, who is willing to spend long hours helping her students with math problems, and who is interested enough in education to work for seven years on the state yearbook commission earns the admiration of both students and teachers.

The Messenger staff of 1969 recognizes these qualities by dedicating this book to Mrs. Catherine D. Penny.

INTRODUCTION

To attend Durham High is to associate with the profoundly interesting and diverse people that make up urban Southern society. In a school that produces mechanics, chemists, beauticians, athletes, artists and politicians, there is a stimulating contrast of opinions and social tendencies. Each student emerges with a better understanding of his fellow.

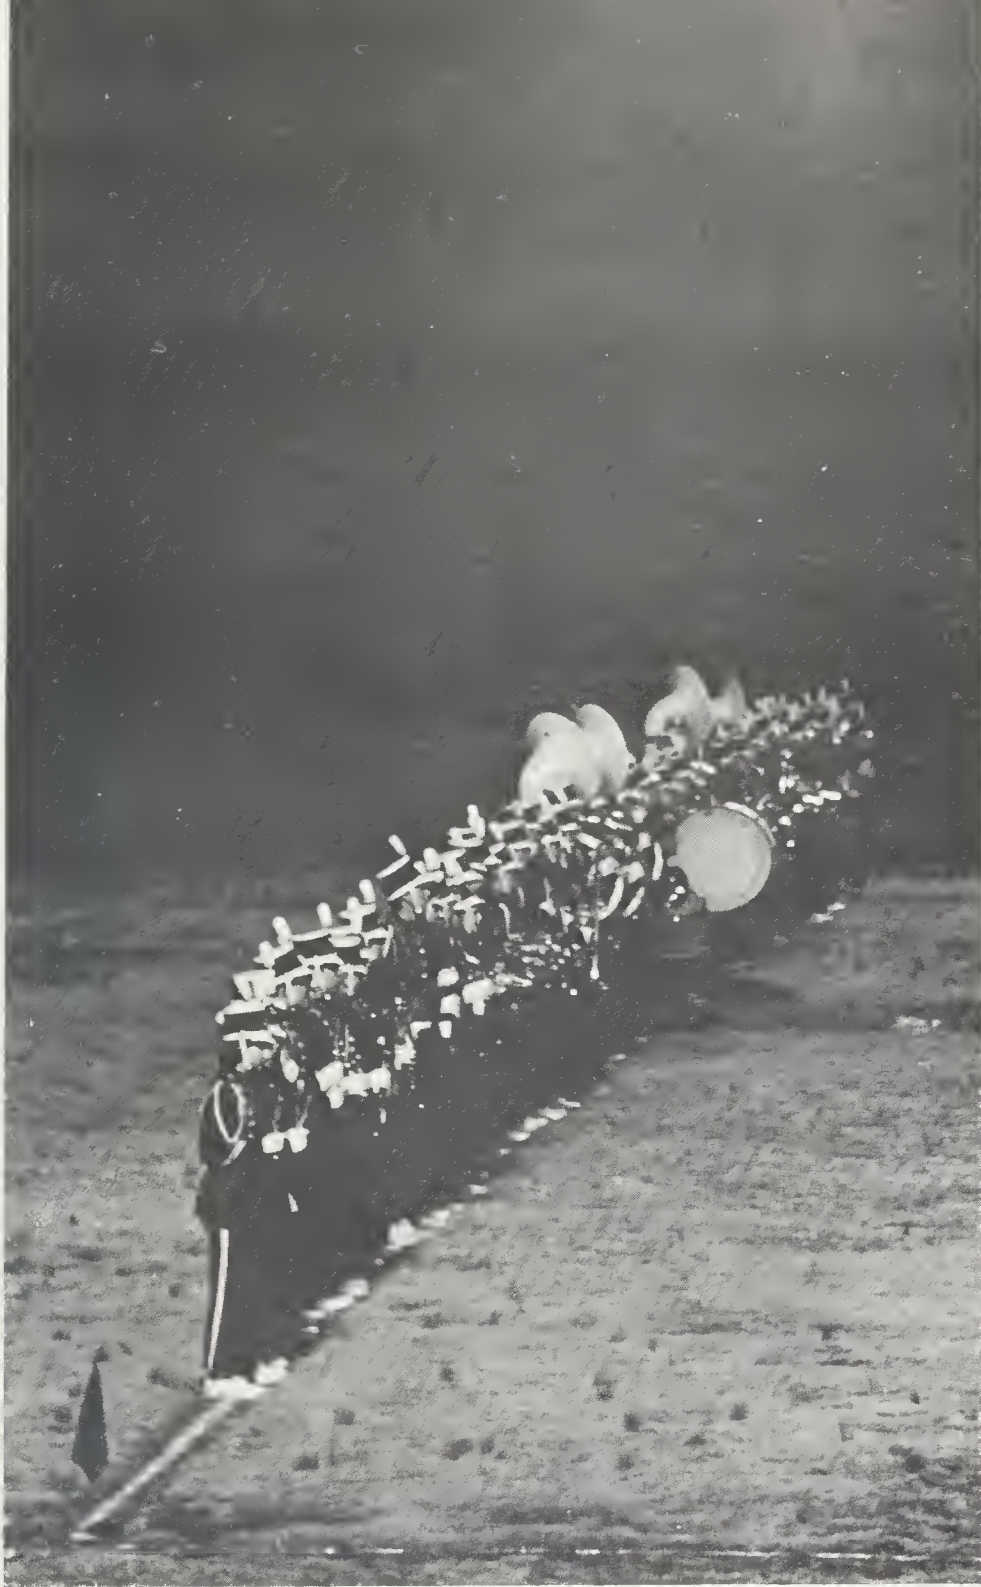

The moods created in the course of the school year are as varied as the students themselves. A pep rally will throb with ebullience, and a particular novel will excite a similar keenness. Students split dangerously over the singing of "Dixie", and then unite to send the Wind Ensemble to the All-South Band Clinic. Personal satisfaction is achieved by succeeding in academics, and in masquerading as a "drafting student" after a tasty meal at Atkins Café.

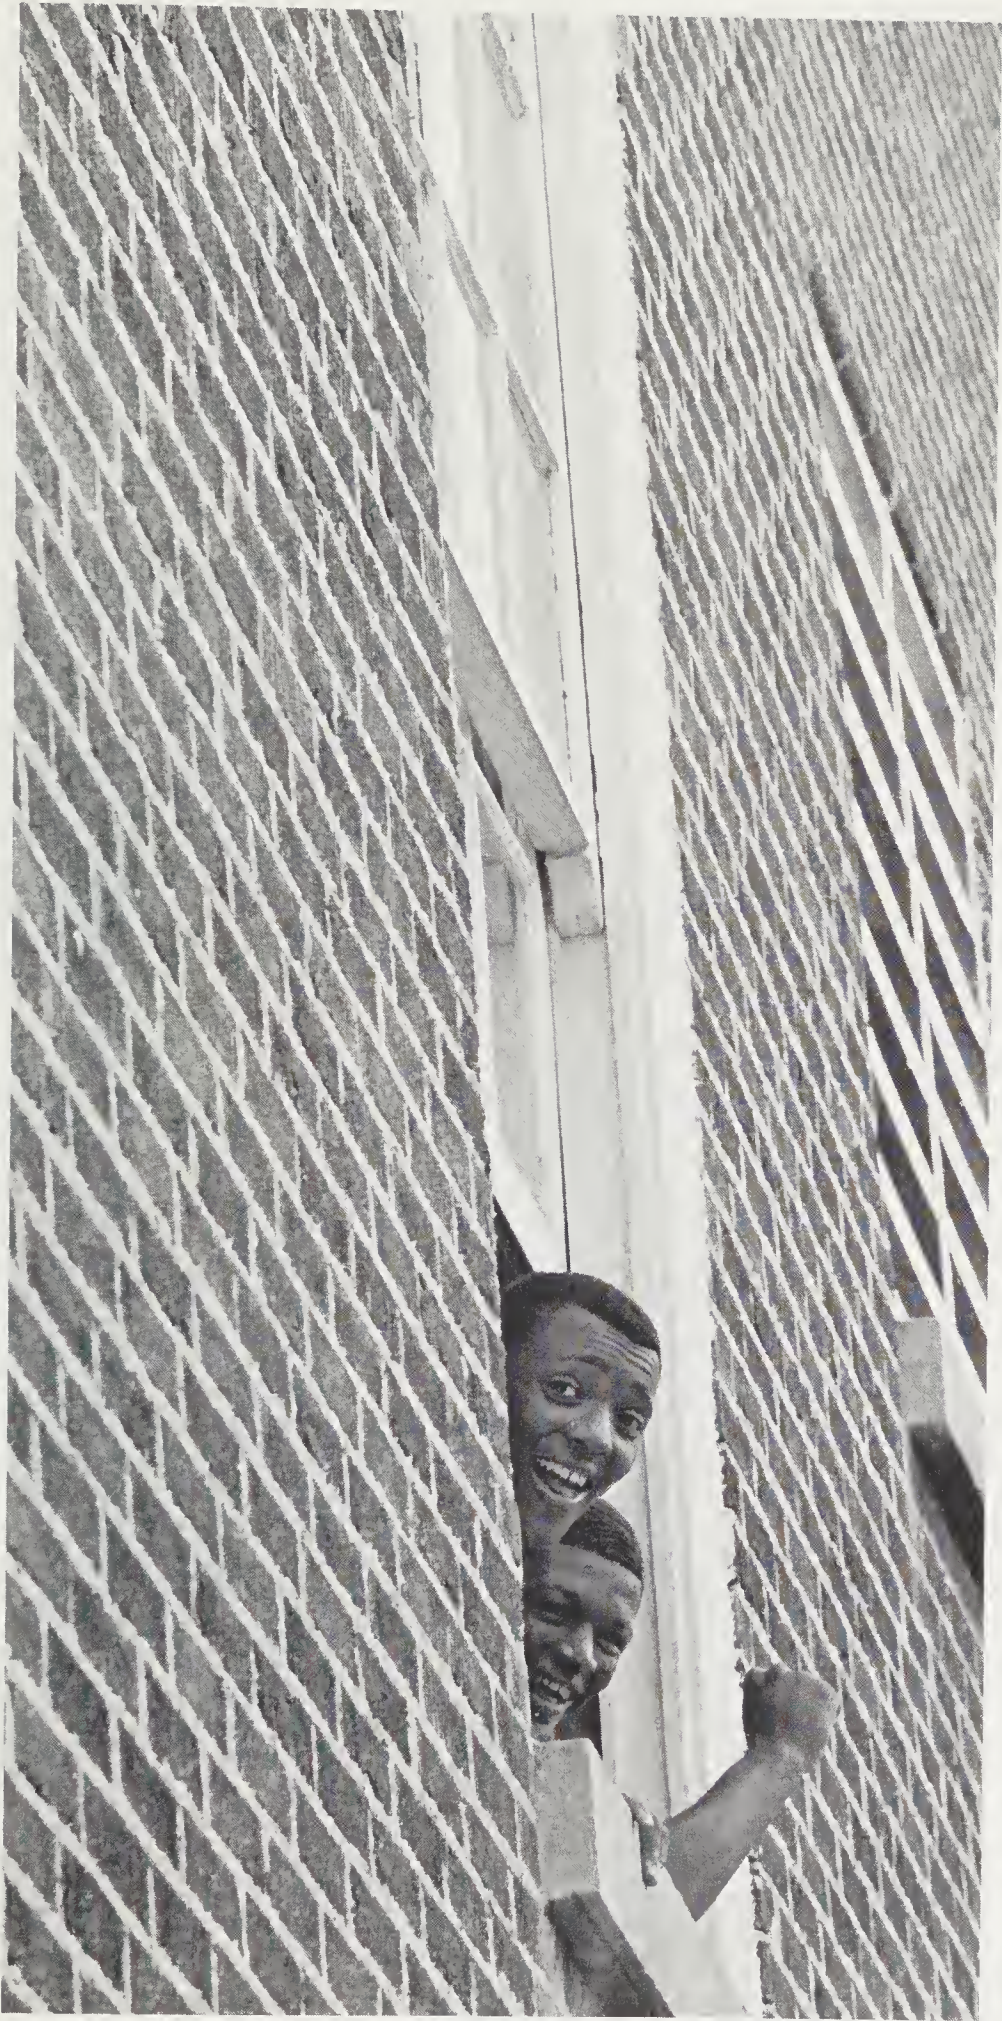

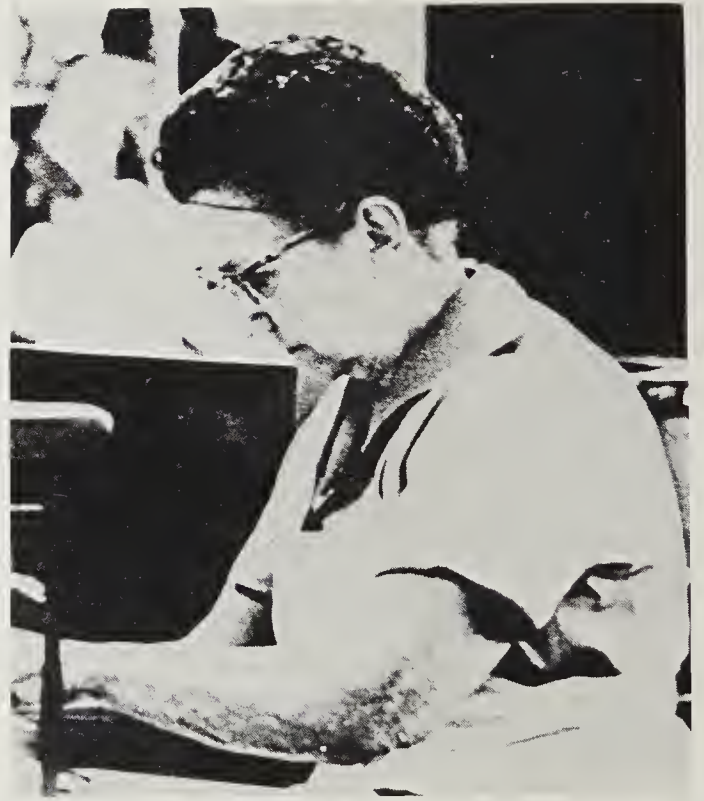

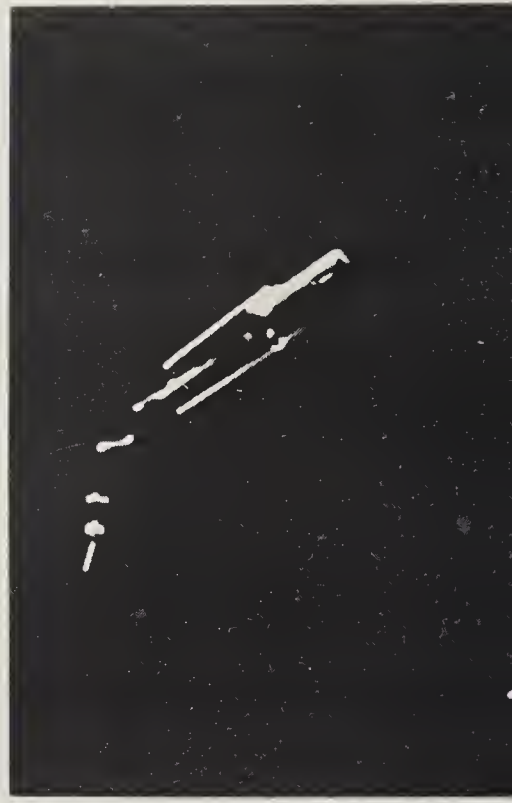

The three years are marked by steadily increasing contact with responsibility, whether coordinating an assembly program, or facing a conference rival across the net on a baking asphalt tennis court; reading the morning bulletin, or operating stagelights for a play; singing in a choral contest, or battling on the football field. Students publish newspapers, serve in committees, and play in the band.

While inspiring events or alarming incidents at Durham High caught public attention, the town observer did not notice the feeling of togetherness underlining much of student life. Brotherhood among widely-assorted athletes brought winning seasons to school teams; student government became less elite and more genuinely participatory; all types of clubs provided focal points of special interest for people who would otherwise never communicate. It is this working unity that holds Durham High together and prepares each of us for the future.

Man's emotions, reactions, and experiences are included in the study of literature. During the three years at high school, a student studies experiences written by many men in several genres of literature: poetry, novels, essays, and plays.

Encounters, the new sophomore book in the series Themes in Literature, covers a realm of human emotions including Shakespeare's Julius Caesar, and The Diary of Anne Frank. Juniors argue whether Moby Dick or Huckleberry Finn is the greatest American novel and go on to read such authors as Salinger and Hawthorne. Seniors move into the wider field of western literature. Chaucer's Canterbury Tales reveal the Middle Ages and The Brothers Kamarazov gives a view of Russian history.

Other courses offered place emphasis on the art of communication. Public speaking enables students to express themselves verbally while Advanced Composition and Journalism emphasize creative writing. Dramatics, another form of communication, teaches fundamentals of the theater and acting.

Knowledge of a foreign language creates understanding of other cultures. French, Spanish, and German classes stress an acquaintance with the cultures of each country in addition to grammar, vocabulary, and literature. Moliere and Prevost are introduced in French, while Cervantes is for Spanish. German texts include selections of Schiller and Goethe. Latin is concerned with such classics as Cicero and Virgil, and the basis they provide for today's languages.

Mrs. Crocker provides her German classes with a closer view of German culture. She has just returned to the U. S. after several years teaching on a military base in Germany. All of the language classes also have records and tapes available for cultural enrichment and verbal drills.

Social Sciences are meant to give an understanding of the interactions of man from the viewpoints of history, culture, economics, and government. With comprehension of these fields, a student can interpret today's society.

In addition to new teachers in the department, Economics has a new textbook, Our American Economy. Mr Pruner, by attending seminars at UNC sponsored by the National Science Foundation, offered an experimental sociology class second semester.

Mathematics provides all students with practical information and theoretical knowledge of the laws governing the universe. Mathematics II and Business Arithmetic offer basic concepts for technical training. Algebra I and II develop the theories of the number system, binomial equations and problem solving. Geometry relates algebraic formulas to dimensional problems with the aid of proofs and theorems. Students may continue through freshman college math with semester courses in advanced algebra, trigonometry, solid geometry and Calculus.

increase scientific knowledge

Students learn to apply laws from mathematics to science as they ask "Why?" of natural phenomenon. Sophomores in Biology I study genetics and basic functions of life through lectures and dissections of earthworms and frogs. From there, students may elect Biology II, which increased to three classes this year and includes intensive anatomy studies of the cat.

Chemistry classes received new manuals and textbooks, and a program of approximately one movie per two weeks was established. Advanced seniors may then take Chemistry II, a nine hour course with two labs after school.

Physics, another senior course, teaches the mechanical laws discovered by such men as Newton and Galileo and provided practical application for much of trigonometry and geometry.

they practice trade and industrial skills

Vocational training at DHS prepares about 800 students in theory and skills for present and future employment. The department is divided into four areas: Trade and Industry, Distributive Education, Cooperative Office Practice and Home Economics.

Drafting I and II students learn the basic fundamentals and go on to machine design, including gears, cams, and linkages, in Drafting III. Graphics, teaching students offset printing, produces many of the programs, invitations and tickets used at DHS. Auto Mechanics I and II, each a three hour class at Brogden, teaches skills needed in repairing vehicles. All areas of the car are studied and each year students participate in the Plymouth Trouble Shooting Center.

Trade and Industrial Education also includes the four areas of carpentry, electricity/electronics, machine shop, and Industrial Cooperative Training (ICT). Carpentry students are introduced to wood types and basic tools in the first year, while second year students use machine tools on such projects as garages and a small house. Hand tools and power equipment of a wider range is the subject in machine shop. Electricity/electronics, one of the three vocational exhibits at the State Fair, covers such subjects as electric motors, appliances and electrical construction. This year students built a closed circuit television and exhibited an elaborate lighting system at the fair. ICT is a work/study program in which students study in their selected field during the morning and work during the afternoon.

Cosmetology, included in trade and industries, was another of the exhibits at the State Fair. A three-chair shop, offering shampoos, styling, bleaching, dyeing, and manicuring, represented the department. After 300 hours of class, a student is permitted to work for the public under close supervision. After completing two years of the three-hour-per-day course, a student is eligible to take the State Cosmetology Board exams and then serve six months apprenticeship before receiving her license.

Distributive Education and Cooperative Office Practice also presented exhibits at the fair, particularly illustrating the theme "Young Tar Heels at Work." These two courses are also work/study programs, teaching general information in relation to getting any job. In the afternoon students either work in distribution and marketing or in office positions.

Girls learn basics for managing a home

Home economics does not only include the traditional sewing and cooking, as part of the Vocational Department, it prepares girls to become competent homemakers. Sewing, first semester, covers projects from suits to formals, depending on an individual girl's ability and experience. During first semester subjects such as family relations, child development and consumer economics are also discussed. Second semester is concerned with cooking. Some new small equipment, an electric broom, pressure cookers, and audio-visual material were added this year. Nutrition, health, and housing are also discussed.

Susan Shepherd, Debby Monsein and Rosa Linden practice sewing in home economics.

Classes at DHS are primarily composed of sophomores as gym is required for only two years. The major sports are taught along with volleyball, sing-song, badminton, golf, and calisthenics. Students also participate in various skill tests. Girls, using records and library research, were introduced to folk dancing, basic dance tempos and simple games for group activity. Health classes, given twice per week, explored such immediate problems as drug addiction.

Art and music aid students in cultivating

The art and music departments enable a student to pursue those subjects which interest him in these fields. The music department has a program divided into primarily three areas: instrumental, vocal, and appreciation. The Varsity Band prepares primarily sophomores to become members of the Wind Ensemble. The Marching Band is compulsory for band students, while the Pep Band, which plays for basketball games, is optional. Choral students have a choice of four groups: Mastersingers for boys; Girls' Chorus; Choralettes for girls; and Concert Choir, with mixed voices. All four groups, and the Wind Ensemble, attend annual state competitions receiving "excellent" or "superior" rating.

Music Theory, a new course, is aimed toward orienting future music majors and teaches technical areas of music. Consumer Music, emphasizing general music appreciation, depends extensively on records, supplemented by filmstrips.

Art introduces art history and theory to beginning students. Advanced classes experiment in different media with such projects as silver jewelry making. This year, all art students helped to win DHS first place in flatwork and third in three-dimensional at the State Fair. Later efforts went toward the Scholastic Art Awards and the School Art Exhibit at the Civic Center.

Approximately 75 students earn ½ unit credit this year for their work in the library and on the audio-visual service. Both boys and girls learn all phases of both areas, helping the two librarians through the day.

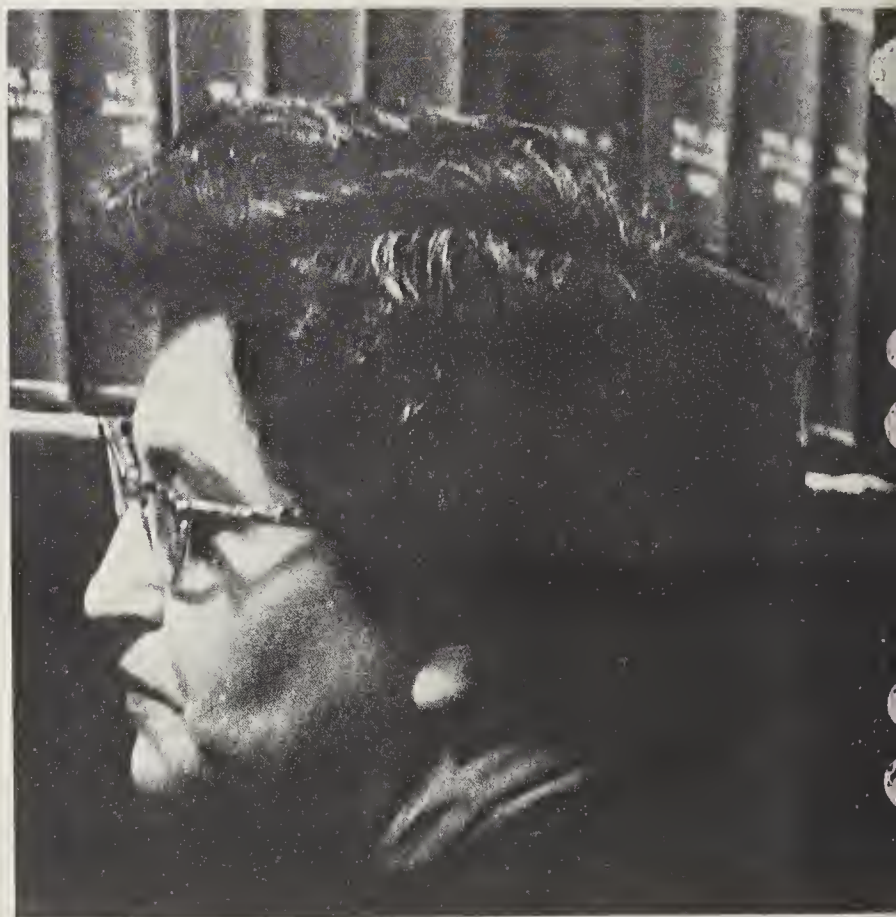

For the past few years, an emphasis has been placed on acquiring general literature books. At least 1,00 volumes in all fields were added to the library this year, bringing the collection to about 15,00 volumes.

The most obvious addition to the library was the air-conditioning. This equipment was a combined gift from the class of '67 and the Library A-V Club which had worked concessions at evening auditorium programs for five years to earn the money.

ORGANIZATIONS

Student Council coordinates activities

Student Council became active early this year by running an August workshop for new members. During the first three weeks of school, each sophomore homeroom was assigned a "big brother or sister" from the Student Council; another workshop was held for new homeroom presidents. Student Council also worked on Parent's Night, spring orientation for rising sophomores, and the spring concert. Two long-range projects were accomplished: outsiders were allowed to attend dances, and a study hall was made available during lunch. Throughout the year delegates were sent to conventions at the national, state, and district levels. The Student Council informed the student body of its activities by a bulletin board in the cafeteria, open meetings daily, and a special meeting held after school every other week. Pug Malone, president; David Adcock, vice-president; Kippy Durham, secretary; Linda Spears, treasurer; Mrs. Martha Patrick, advisor. Senior class officers: Keith Craig, president; Ken Watkins, vice-president; Jancie Albright, secretary; Debbie Boyle, treasurer. Junior class officers: Archie Johnson, president; Susan Berry, vice-president; Louise Carr, secretary; Malissa High, treasurer. Sophomore class officers: David Griffith, president; Mike Searcy, vice-president; Sherry Johnson, secretary; Pat Freemah, treasurer. Committee: Susan Allen and Cra Shaw, House and Grounds; Richard Miller and Ken Titus, Student Marshals; Pat O'Neal and Chuck Brantley, Social; Janet Krigbaum and Artis Plummer, Program; Charles Billings and Lee Southerland, Public Relations; Tula Cahoon and Tommy Cranford, Publicity; Harold Barnette, Social Concerns; Alton Parrish and Ann Currie, International Relations. Harry Burger, American Field Service Exchange Student.

Janice Albright, Archie Johnson, Susan Berry, Louise Carr, Ken Watkins, Mike Searcy, Pat Freeman, and Pat O'Neal listen to criticisms from the Suggestion Box.

House and Grounds continue school clean-up

This year's campus cleanup campaign was organized by the House and Grounds Committee. Each day a different class cleaned up the school grounds. Before school opened, the committee decorated all the bulletin boards, and on the first day of school, they presented the teachers with apples. Susan Allen and Ora Shaw, a co-chairman; Mr. Vincent O'Shea, advisor. Janice Allbright, Jan Anderson, Betsy Barnes, Eddie Bernson, Shirley Blalock, Summer Brock, Susan Burcham, Linda McGill, Patsy Cook, Keith Craig, Tempie Craig, Ann Freeman, Linda Fulton, Pam Gary, George Glasson, Ricky Hawkins, Woody Hewitt, Mike Honeycutt, Jan Love, Cathy Manes, Mary May, Jay Mize, Mary Portwood, Sue Radford, Rosalie Rich, Laura Sandefur, Terri Snuggs, Pat Shepard, Kit Torbert, Sara Upchurch, Nancy Watkins, Stephanie Yarborough.

Student Marshals direct hall traffic

Members of the Student Marshall Committee worked to change their image from that of previous years. After a successful membership campaign, the committee went to work trying to ease some of Durham High's traffic problems between classes. "Up" and "down" stairways were established, and students directed lunch lines in the cafeteria. During pep rallies and assemblies, members helped speed up the flow of students in order to start these functions on time. Richard Miller and Ken Titus, co-chairmen; Mr. Frank Evans, advisor. Bobby Coates, Paul Cribb, Dayle Dunnegan, Doug Griffin, David Horton, Bonnie Ketner, Eric Kristoff, Ned Langston, Wayne Lewis, Mike Massey, Mark Mobley, Hal Norman, Tommy O'Brien, Greg Procopio, Nell Umstead, Tommy Werner.

Social Committee plans school dances

Social Committee members welcomed students and faculty at the beginning of the year by sending out "Hello" tags and sock-hop cards. During football season, they provided oranges for the team. During the year get-well cards were sent to sick students, and sympathy cards were sent to those who had a death in the family. The Social Committee also planned the sock-hops and the Christmas dance. Chuck Brantley and Pat O'Neal, co-chairmen; Mrs. Ruth Rogers, advisor. Ann Arey, Vicki Ball, Tonya Barbee, Laura Barbour, Susan Berry, Pam Butler, Steve Brewer, Lynn Cowan, Patsy Cook, Andrea Crews, Vicki Day, Al Eakes, Joe Eason, David Griffith, Steve Hancock, Marcie Johnson, Vera Klopowita, Charlotte McClees, Linda Meeler, Cissy O'Neal, Carol Poe, Maria Poretr, Mary Porter, Mary Portwood, Veronica Ray, Paula Roberts, Alex Roocher, Debby Rudow, Steve Spain, Diane Strawbridge, Karen Tilley, Bob Umberger, Carol Valencia, Janice Welch, Melinda Wilkinson.

Program Committee presents skits

All assemblies and pep rallies were planned by the Program Committee. They decorated the auditorium for the Thanksgiving and Christmas programs. Throughout the year, members of the Program Committee wrote and performed in various skits that coincided with school events. They were also responsible for special programs such as speeches by Duke professors on ESP and the danger of drugs, and a concert by a choir from UNC. Janet Krigbaum and Artis Plummer, co-chairmen; Mrs. Martha Patrick, advisor. Mary Buchanan, Pam Collins, Paulette Frazee, Cynthia Hall, Lynn Krigbaum, Andrea Kubachko, Mary Ruth Laverty, Tom McIntosh, Tim Nash, Lynn Sanders, Jacque Smith, Debbie Thompson, Anita Thornton, Cindy Warren, Sue Wilkins.

Publicity Committee paints banners

Andrew Martin puts up a banner in the cafeteria after the "Paint-in."

All the banners which decorated the cafeteria this year were products of the Publicity Committee. The Committee also kept the student body informed about activities around the school by publishing a monthly calendar and by posting notices on the Student Organization bulletin board in the cafeteria. This committee was also responsible for reading and answering comments from the Suggestion Box. A special activity of this year's committee was the mural that was painted in the hall between the auditorium and the main building. Tula Cahoon and Toom Cranford, cochairman; Karen Abramson, Jan Anderson, Louise Anlyan, Barbara Barr, Bob

Public Relations Committee informs public

The Public Relations Committee served as a liaison between DHS and the public. It sponsored two radio programs: one broadcast from WKIX on Wednesdays, the other by Gayle Taliafero on WSRO. This year each club had a public relations chairman who helped coordinate school and club news for release to the newspapers. In addition, the committee published the Student Directory, wrote letters to visiting athletic teams, and kept a scrapbook of the year's activities which was filed in the library. Charles Billings and Lee Southerland, co-chairmen; Jo Andrews, A. G. Crockett, John Elkins, Sandy Gordon, Tommy Harton, Julia McCutcheon, Patty McDonald, Nancy McGranahan, Barry Morgan, Julianne Perry, Andy Ralston, Carol Strayhorn, Gary Taliafero.

Sandy Gordon and Charles Billings plan press releases for the local newspapers.

Social Concerns handles school problems

Newly organized this year, the Social Concerns Committee worked to create better relationships between the students and the faculty and among the various student groups. Meeting every other week, the members discussed problems and presented suggestions to the Student Council. The committee also encouraged individuals to come before the Student Council to present their own ideas and problems. Harold Barnette, chairman; Mrs. Lola Williams, advisor. Karen Abramson, James Adams, Ivey Barnette, Marie Booth, Nancy Borstleman, Gary Bressler, Robert Bressler, Bruce Bridges, Jim Bryan, James Carter, Shirley Chestnut, Francis Davis, Johnny Freeman, Virginia Hill, Larry Hinton, Nathaniel Johnson, Wesley Johnson, Marion Lamberth, Demetria McArthur, William McClain, Willie Mebane, Alton Parrish, Joan Parrish, Mike Pendergraph, Ray Pettiford, Maria Porter, Mary Porter, Archie Pretty, Burnes Ray, Veronica Ray, Alex Rooker, Sally Rudow, Gretchen Sampson, Don Schlitz, Macon Singletary, Mat Spach, Mary Spears, Gayle Taliafero, Cookie Underwood, Denise Weaver, Ricky Wilson, Lisa Wyngaarden, Marti Wyngaarden.

International Relations aids foreign study

In conjunction with the social sciences department, the International Relations Committee wrote to fifty countries to secure information which was placed in the library. Programs during the year included talks by Nancy Borstlemann, who spent the summer in Mexico; by Mr. Pruner, who has visited Europe several times; and by Harry Burger, the exchange student from South Africa. Alton Parrish and Ann Currie, co-chairmen; Mr. John Pruner, advisor. Bill Autry, Nancy Borstlemann, Claudia Harris, Mike Honeycutt, Phyllis King, Linda Lacy, David McLeod, Marie Meeler, Mark Mobley, David Mold, Sandy Moulton, Martha Nunn, Steve O'Shea, Robert Page, Joan Parrish, Becky Purcell, Donna Rigsbee, Linda Spears, Demetria Tsantes, Cookie Underwood, Carol Vaughn.

American Field Service sponsors Harry Burger

Mrs. Gibson talks to Harry Burger during a reception for him in the library.

American Field Service is a private, non-profit, non-sectarian organization whose purpose is the promotion of understanding between people through international scholarship programs. Organized as a volunteer hospital service in World War I and II, AFS was changed to a student exchange program in 1947 with an initial group of 532 students. The program has expanded to include 2900 local chapters; 43,000 students from 76 countries have participated since the exchanges were started.

Harry Burger, from Cdenso, in Natal, South Africa, was the AFS student who visited DHS this year. Arriving on August 4 after a brief stay in New York, Harry leaves in July for a bus trip through the Midwest, to Washington, D. C., and then back to New York. Harry found many different features at DHS: South African schools have no student governments, cafeterias, or non-academic subjects. All students must wear uniforms, and graduation is based entirely on an exam grade. Harry enjoyed the variety of courses and extra-curricular activities. Of the people he said, "I find everyone has been helpful and kind. I appreciate it!"

Representative Council, which met monthly, informed the student body of the activities of the Student Council. Reports on all projects of the eight committees, of the three classes and a monthly budget report were compiled and distributed during the meetings. The officers of Student Council served as officers of the Representative Council. Along with the Student Council, membership consisted of homeroom presidents. Sophomore presidents were: Laura Barbour, Van Blalock, Ann Campell, Bill Coble, Rick Davies, Joe Eason, Amy Fulton, Janet Gunter, Michael Hill, Webb Howell, Jeff Kristeller, Allen Lloyd, Jim McIntosh, Pam Parrish, Judy Pickett, Paula Roberts, Diane Strawbridge, Karen Tilley, Bob Umberger, Barbara Wilkinson. Junior presidents were: Becky Blalock, Gary Bressler, Debbie Bryant, A. G. Crockett, Kay Cruse, Randy Caster, Phil Hall, Phil Insoe, Andrea Kubachko, Lesley Loftis, David McLeod, Tommy Morris, Pat Penny, DeWitt Rogers, Macon Singletary, Sara Upchurch, Ricky Wilson. Senior presidents were: Pam Collins, Eddie Smith, Connie Garrard, Joan Austin, Lewis Cheek, Bill Coman, Tommy Donnegan, George Classon, Gary House, Wayne Lewis, Tom McIntosh, Tommy O'Brien, Bill O'Neal, Barbara Richardson, Carol Strayhorn, Tommy Turrentine, Connie Williamson. Other members included: Bonnie Rhoads, head cheerleader; Sandy Gordon, editor-in-chief of the Hi-Rocket; Jean Kristeller, editor-in-chief of the Messenger.

Keith Craig, Louise Carr, Barbara Wilkinson, Susan Berry and Alton Parrish listen to the monthly budget report.

Representative Council informs students

Information about Student Council activities is presented to members of Representative Council to be passed on to each homeroom.

Clubs are chartered by Interclub Council

Members of Interclub Council listen to plans for the spring concert.

Jane Clark, Carole Eisenberg, Lee Southerland, Brenda Hicks, Peggy Baucom, and Robin Willis hear discussion about a new club.

The Interclub Council assembly script earns a rare smile from president David Adcock.

Interclub Council, comprised of all club presidents, worked for more student involvement in clubs by increasing memberships and by organizing new clubs. Club Fair, held in the fall, proved to be a tremendous success by attracting nearly half of the student body; and seven new clubs were chartered this year. A continuing project of Interclub Council was the maintenance of the Paul C. Williamson, Jr. Memorial Garden, and for the second year, the Council co-sponsored a spring concert. David Adcock, president; Peter Baker, vice-president; Bettie Nelle Ricca, secretary; Jane Clark, treasurer; Mrs. Dheadra Cozart, advisor. Jo Andrews, Charles Billings, Randy Brame, Margaret Brown, Dennis Bryan, Mackie Bynum, Beverly Chance, Patsy Cook, Pete Crowder, Carole Eisenberg, John Elkins, Diana Hackney, Brenda Hicks, Julia Ingram, Patty McDonald, Debbie McGill, Rick Miller, Tim Oates, Karin Phelps, Hookie Riley, Gretchen Sampson, James Scoggins, Peter Scott, Lee Southerland, Sandy Tapp, Melinda Wilkinson, Robin Willis, Bill Wilson.

Jr. Civitans and Jr. Civinettes serve the community

Junior Civinettes, one of seven new clubs chartered this year, is the girls' service club coordinated with the Junior Civitans, with whom they worked jointly on several projects. They planned a Christmas party for underprivileged children and helped the band finance their trip to Jekyll Island. They also made a contribution to the Salvation Army food collection during the Thanksgiving assembly. Patsy Cook, president; Linda Spears, vice-president; Pat O'Neal, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Estelle Ridenhour, advisor. Janice Allbright, Susan Allen, Louise Anlyan, Ann Arey, Susan Berry, Debbie Boyle, Tula Cahoon, Louise Carr, Kippy Durham, Nancy Georgiade, Trena Griffith, Malissa High, Marcia Johnson, Lesley Loftis, Debbie McGill, Marie Meeler, Gayley Middleton, Mary Moore, Bonnie Rhoads, Paula Roberts, Ora Shaw, Karen Swanson, Chesley Turner, Sara Upchurch, Marti Wyngaarden.

This year the Junior Civitans directed many of their efforts toward the servicemen in Vietnam: they packed ditty bags for the Red Cross, collected paperbacks to be sent overseas, and sent toys and candy to Vietnam for a Christmas party for Vietnamese children. Charles Billings, president; Bobby Mason, vice-president; Archie Johnson, secretary; Sandy Gordon, treasurer; Mr. John Deeds, advisor Doug Adams, Harold Barnette, Randy Brame, Chuck Brantley, Gary Bressler, Steve Brewer, Dennis Bryan, Harry Burger, A. A new organization, the Bible Club spent most of the year building a structure with which future clubs could operate. Occasionally there were guest speakers; however, meetings usually centered around discussions of various aspects of life in their relationship to Christianity. Though a non-denominational group, the Bible Club offered every member a chance to express his feelings about religion during the meetings. Randy Brame, president; Joan Austin, secretary; Dianne Strawbridge, treasurer; David Goehrig, chaplain; Mr. Frank Evans, advisor. Peter Baker, Sybil Ballszglier, Dottie Bell, Susan Berry, Judy Bowling, Sandy Brame, Janice Brown, Chuck Clemens, Arthur Conyers, Bettie Farrel, Barbara Fowler, Andy Garner, Ruth Geil, Jay Goehrig, Suzanne Harris, Brenda Hicks, Marti Honeycutt, Eddie Johnson, Ralph Keaton, Becky King, Marsha LaPlant, Allen Lloyd, Pug Malone, David McBroom, Debbie McCall, Tom McIntosh, Cathy Nichelson, Barbara Oldham, Alton Parrish, Julianne Perry, Juliet Perry, Bernie Petteway, Debbie Ray, Gary Rigsbee, Carol Rollings, Deborah Williams, Joe Wilson, Mike Wilson.

Bible Club explores Christian living

One of several new clubs this year, the Art Club planned trips to art museums in Raleigh, Greensboro, Chapel Hill, and Winston-Salem. Members participated in an art contest at Shoney's and prepared for the Sidewalk Art Show at Northgate in the spring. In conjunction with Student Council, Art Club painted a mural on the wall between the auditorium and the main building and set up display cases exhibiting silver jewelry, clay objects and pictures. Robin Willis, president; Tommy Brooks, vice-president; Debbie Lewis, secretary; Peggy Baucom, treasurer; Mrs. Betty West, advisor. # Folk Music Club stages hootenanny

Bill Dodson, Aaron Eubanks, Kathy Hilliard, Bobby Weaver and Lynn Cowan discuss plans for the spring hootenanny.

As a special event this year, the Folk Music Club went Christmas caroling to several wards at Watts Hospital. The annual spring hootenanny, sponsored jointly by the Folk Music Club and Tri-M, was held outdoors this year. Performers at both the hootenanny and at monthly meetings included students from Duke, UNC and several local high schools. Jo Andrews, president; Vince Sorgi, vice-president; Dee Bennet, secretary; Tommy Cranford, treasurer; Mrs. Rebecca Hall and Miss Suzanne Culberson, advisors. John Arnold, Sherri Baker, Tonya Barbee, Barbara Bly, Nancy Bryan, Lynn Cowan, Keith

Aside from participating in the concerts at Durham High, the Choralettes also performed for local civic groups. Due to the large membership of seventy-four girls, Mr. R. Glenn Starnes taught two classes of Choralettes each day. In order to achieve a unified effect, several evening rehearsals were necessary. The girls made their rehearsals more enjoyable by combining them with pot-luck suppers and other social functions.

perform for the community

Jo Andrews, Ken Overby and Debbie Pifer talk in the robe room.

This year's Concert Choir, directed by Mr. R. Glenn Starnes, performed for various civic clubs and junior high schools during the Christmas and Easter seasons. In May the choir enjoyed their annual beach trip. At the end of the year, after next year's Concert Choir had been chosen, the 1970 choir members performed during the Baccalaureate Service.

Diane Leich, Randy Hobbit, and Joe Miller practice before the Christmas Concert

This year the combined choruses presented their annual Christmas and spring concerts. In addition, they performed during the half-time show of the Rocky Mount football game and participated in a choral symposium at DHS, directed by Dr. Lara Haggard, a professor at UNC. In March each chorus vied for top ratings in the annual District Choral Contest held at Durham High. Shortly after that, selected students attended a choral workshop in Greensboro.

Marching Band enlivens school spirit

Marching Band, which includes all members of Wind Ensemble and Varsity Band, began practice last August with basic drills for the rising sophomores. One week later the rest of the band began drilling the first show of the season. Another summer activity was the parade and pep rally to kick off the season ticket sales throughout Durham. Practices continued to be held every morning at 7:20 to rehearse the half-time shows performed at all home games and at two away games. A special project this year was the show during which the band accompanied the combined choruses for two numbers. The band also marched in the Homecoming and Christmas parades, and performed at pep rallies throughout the year.

Majorettes perform routines with band

During the national anthem, the majorettes stand at attention. Beverly Stutts, Debbie Massengill, Martha Munn, Phyllis Massenberg, Susan Nelson, Kathy Duke, Ona Stuart and Cindy Montsinger, head majorette. Members of the Marching Band, the majorettes performed with the band at all games and parades. When the band practiced on the field for each show, the majorettes attended the early morning sessions. Early in August, all the girls attended a clinic at St. Andrews College to learn basic routines. The highlight of the season was during the half-time show at which the majorettes twirled fire. A third uniform was added this year with long sleeves and fuller skirts for the colder weather.

Varsity Band trains musicians

Dewey Bullock and Ronald Hewett listen to instructions from Mr. Justice.

Varsity Band, under the direction of Mr. Earl Justice, practices daily during second period. The primary purpose of the Varsity Band is to prepare the students for membership in the Wind Ensemble. Wind Ensemble, the principle instrumental group at DHS, was greatly honored this year by an invitation to the First Annual All-South Band Clinic at Jekyll Island, Georgia, from January 29 to February 1. One of the three high school bands asked to participate from thirteen southern states, the Wind Ensemble held many early morning rehearsal sessions during December and January in addition to the regular daily practices. On January 23 a preview concert was held at Durham High. Recordings from both of the concerts were sold to help pay for the trip. Other activities included the State Contest and the Spring Concert. Various members also participated in the All-State Band and Orchestra and in the band for the senior musical "Camelot". The last performance of the year, in which rising sophomores participated, was at the graduation exercises.

Practice for the Southern Band Clinic holds the complete attention of Jo-Nell Perry, Nancy Council, Susan Dwosky and Susan Pope.

Tri-M sponsors musical programs

The Modern Music Masters (Tri-M), the honorary music society at DHS, explored many facets of the music world this year. Their activities included German folk dancing, a classical guitar concert by Jim Bryan, and various performances by members. Tri-M also co-sponsored a Folk Music Club concert. First row: Jo Andrews, vice-president; Kay Cruse, secretary; Linda Guttman, Jeanne Clifford, Ruth Partin, Cathie Smith, Kathi Hilliard, Diane Leich, Marilyn Newton. 2nd row: Bettie Nelle Ricca, Julia Ingram, Patsy Cook, Betty Fuller, Mary Ruth Laverty, Linda Lacy, Bly Hall, Debbie Pifer. 3rd row: Tommy Cranford, Peter Baker, treasurer; Melinda Wilkinson, David Fritz, James Scoggins, David Atkins, Maurice King. Absent: Karen Phelps, president; Mr. R. Glenn Starnes, advisor.

At an officers meeting, president Karin Phelps discusses plans for the joint Tri-M and German Club folk dance.

Thespians produce "The Crucible"

President Patty McDonald listens to nominations for the Thespian play.

Director Betsy Lindsey fills in for an absent actor.

Thespian Club members tried to stimulate interest in the theatre arts. Participation in the club gave students opportunities to work with such facets as acting, set design, costumes and makeup. Some of the members attended a workshop at UNC in October. The major project of the year was the December production of "The Crucible" by Arthur Miller. For the first time a second play was produced: Christopher Fry's "A Phoenix Too Frequent" was entered in the Carolina Dramatics Association's competition in February. Patty McDonald, president; Betsy Lindsey, vice-president; Lindy Guttman, secretary; Jane Scott, treasurer; Miss Suzanne

Debate Club competes in district tournament

Debate Club participated in several tournaments during the year, one of which was the High School Debate Tournament in February, at Wake Forest University. Along with practice debates at several local schools, the members of the club gave talks, held discussions, and gave demonstration debates on this year's topic of military manpower systems. This year the varsity team consisted of Richard Miller, Ken Watkins, Peter Baker, and David Adcock. Richard Miller, president; Ken Watkins, vice president; Patty McDonald, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. H.K. Smalling, advisor. David Adcock, Peter Baker, Henry Cunningham, Allan Dworsky, Eric Kristoff, Greg Procopio, Bobby Weaver, Bill Wilson.

Sandy Gordon, editor-in-chief, begins to write an editorial.

Sandy Gordon, as editor of the Hi-Rocket, was responsible for presenting to the student body an accurate account of school events in each issue of the newspaper. The date of each of the fifteen issues was planned in advance to coincide with a major school event. The twenty-seven members of the staff, advised by Mrs. Smalling, worked on all facets of the newspaper, the fundamentals of which had been taught in journalism class. All major decisions concerning the policies of the paper were decided by the editorial board. Popular features again this year were Student of the Month, the car column, the opinion poll, and letters to the editors. During second semester, the junior staff members had the opportunity to attend the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Convention in New York City to gain new ideas for next year's paper.

Debbie Bass, Eddie Bernson, and Tom Hardison participate in the daily business meeting.

Parnassians publish "Teleidescope"

Students interested in creative writing found a way to share this interest with other people by joining the Parnassian Club. During the Club Fair, there was a poetry reading of original works as well as those of recognized poets. This year the club published two issues of its literary magazine "Teleidescope" and began a series of evening seminars with a discussion by Doris Betts of UNC on the short story. "Teleidescope" contained original poetry, short stories, and drawings. All contributions were read by the club members who made recommendations to the editorial board. Final selections were made by the board, consisting of all the officers and Jim Bryan, Lindy Guttman, Jenny Nygard, and Betsy Walker. Peter Scott, president; Gaylor Callahan, vice-president; Betsy Lindsey, secretary; Claudia Harris, treasurer; Mrs. Betty MacLean, advisor. # French III class presents play for French Club

French club activities were highlighted by guest speakers: Dennis Bryan told of his visit to France last summer, and Jean Paul Legoff, a Frenchman now living in the United States, compared French and American life. In December, the club was entertained by one of M. Creech's French III classes who presented a scene from Moliere's Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme, a play they had studied in class. # French Honor Society is chartered

Members of the French Honor Society vote for their president.

Although the French Honor Society has existed at DHS for many years, this was the first year it was a recognized chartered club. Members of the society participated in the tutoring program sponsored by the joint honor societies. Eligibility for the French Honor Society was based on an A minus average for at least three semesters of French. Betsy Lindsey, president; Keith Craig, vice-president; Tula Cahoon, secretary; Sheila Hunt, treasurer; M. Walter Creech, advisor. Bill Autry, Charles Billings, Gary Bressler, Dennis Bryan, Curtis Coggin, Kathy Dillon, Mark Dillon, Mary Ann Eubanks, Debbie Freedman, Janet Greenberg, Lindy Guttman, Claudia Harris, Amy Hill, Virginia Hill, Beckie Hobbie, Becky Inscoc, Laura Johnson, Sally Jones, Janet Krigbaum, Jean Kristeller, Ann McCarthy, Julia McCutcheon, Cindy Montsinger, Mike Moore, Janet Morris, Martha Munn, Ruth Partin, Jane Patrick, Peter Preston, Peter Scott, Ora Shaw, Helen Smith, Mat Spach, Demetria Tsantes, Rick Wilson.

Latin Honor Society holds spring inductions

Latin National Honor Society activities centered around the joint tutoring service. In the spring inductions were held for students with a high B average in Latin. Gretchen Sampson, president; Cathie Smith, vice-president; Jeanne Clifford, secretary; Alice Smith, treasurer; Mrs. Peggy Gaddy, advisor. Ralph Clayton, Maurice King, Bly Hall, Jenny Nygard, Barbara Bly, and Kay Cruse wait for a meeting to start.

Members look over sheet music before singing carols in Latin at the Christmas party.

Latin Club members participated in the Junior Classical League Conference in Chapel Hill. During the meeting they went to workshops, competed in vocabulary and history tests, and heard speakers from UNC. In May they held the annual orgy, to which they invited rising sophomores from local junior high schools. The club members dressed in Roman togas and sold the ninth graders as slaves to raise money for next year's club. ## Fasching party observes German Lent

Mrs. Ruth Phelps teaches several folk dances as Sheila Draughn and Julia Ingram listen.

German Club emphasized German culture through several speakers. Peter Scott gave an account of his trip to Germany last summer, and Mrs. Joy Crocker told about the years she had lived and taught in Germany. In January German Club held a joint meeting with Tri-M during which the members learned German folk dances under the instruction of Mrs. Ruth Phelps. The annual Fasching Party, the German equivalent of Mardi Gras, was held in February complete with costumes and German food. Julia Ingram, president; Mary Ruth Laverty, vice-president; Jean Kristeller, secretary; Alice Smith, treasurer; Bill Autry, chaplain; Mrs. Joy Crocker, advisor. John Arnold, Dee Bennett, Bruce Bond, Gaylor Callahan, Jeanne Clifford, David Colvard, Frances Coombs, George Glasson, Howard Kellog, Phyllis King, Janet Krigbaum, Lynn Krigbaum, Jeff Kristeller, Diane Leich, Jon Martell, Ricky McClees, David Mold, Robert Page, Alton Parrish, Becky Purcell, Donna Rigsbee, Ken Shipp, Ray Terry, Robert Wash, Greg Wheat, Ricky Wilson, Andy Withers.

Pan-Am members relate their experiences

Tim Nash, Kathy Hilliard, Bobby Weaver, Mackie Bynum, and Mark Mobley watch as Mike Massey tries to hit the pinata.

Throughout the year the Pan-Am Club heard speakers who have had contact with Spanish culture. Nancy Borstlemann, who lived in Mexico as a part of the Experiment in International Living, and Lewis Cheek, who visited Mexico last summer, spoke about their experiences. Carol Hodge told about the summer Spanish program she participated in at ECU. The highlight of the year was the annual Christmas party with a piñata. Mackie Bynum, president; Lewis Cheek, vice-president; Gé Brogden, secretary; Ugo Coletta, treasurer; Mrs. Julia Wiggins, advisor. ## Students seek excellence in Spanish

To be eligible for induction into the Spanish National Honor Society, students must have at least a high B average and have studied Spanish for at least three semesters. The club strived to interest its members in Spanish culture by sending out bulletins announcing such TV productions as "El Cid" and plays such as "Man of La Mancha" that were available on local campuses. James Scoggins, president; Lewis Cheek, vice-president; Pat Wallace, secretary; Patty McDonald, treasurer; Mrs. Joyce Carter, advisor. ## National Honor Society

Members of the National Honor Society were inducted at two separate ceremonies. In the spring of 1968, fifteen juniors who had an A minus average became members; the winter inductions included sixty-one seniors who had a B minus average. Teachers who voted on the membership placed emphasis on scholarship, leadership, character, and citizenship. The society, previously just an honorary organization, joined with the other academic honor societies for form a tutoring program which began second semester. Another project was the revision of the constitution which will raise the academic standards for those students who will be inducted in future years. Tula Cahhon, president; Peter Baker, vice-president; Jean Kristeller, secretary; Julia Ingram, treasurer; Mrs. Arlene Lay and Mrs. Aileen Hopkins, advisors.

New members meet after the inductions to elect officers.

Officers Peter Baker, Julia Ingram, Jean Kristeller, and Tula Cahoon look through the National Honor Society Handbook.

Tommy O'Briant shows library assistant Brenda Davis how to operate a projector.

Members of the Library/Audio-Visual Club held several open houses: for Parents' Night during American Education Week and for College Night. In the fall, teachers met at a reception in the library for the exchange student Harry Burger. In October members attended the East Central District Convention in Chapel Hill, and later DHS hosted the North Carolina High School Library Convention. As an innovation this year, all library assistants were taught to operate the audio-visual equipment. ## the goal posts before each home game

A Pep Club meeting boosts school spirit before a basketball game. Members learn new cheers for the basketball games.

During football season, the Pep Club decorated the goal posts before each home game, and sold megaphones before some of them. Throughout the year, members made banners to be put up at the basketball and football games. The final activity was the annual spring picnic. Lee Southerland, president; Carla Whitaker, vice-president; Joyce Roberts, secretary; Gayley Middleton, treasurer; Mrs. Connie Roberson, advisor. Karen Abramson, David Adcock, Ann Arey, Joan Austin, Sybil Baltzghier, Charles Billings, Gail Bisplinghoff, Barbara Bly, Debbie Boyle, Randy Brame, Tula Cahoon, Dan Cash, Bill Cherry, Keith Craig, Tempie Craig, Dottie deBruyne, Kippy Durham, Betty Farrell, Beverly Fogleman, Winston Fitzpatrick, Debbie Freedman, Bill Fuller, Sandy Gordon, Terry Gordy, Cindy Grimstead, Marty Hancock, Malissa High, Nancy Holleman, Judy Ivey, Kathy Johnson, Marcie Johnson, Joe Latta, Wayne Lewis, Lesley Loftis, Julia McCutcheon, Linda McGill, Tom McIntosh, Charlotte McLees, Kathy McLeod, Donna Mallard, Pug Malone, Cathy Maness, Bobby Mason, Linda Meeler, Mark Mobley, Debbie Monsein, Cindy Montsinger, Tim Nash, Robert Newsome, Frank Newton, Mary Nichols, Noel Nicholson, Ricky Nooney, Dinah O'Neal, Pat O'Neal, Maria Porter, Bonnie Rhodes, Paula Roberts, DeWitt Rogers, Debbie Rush, Laura Sandefur, Ken Shipp, Macon Singletary, Diana Strawbridge, Carol Strayhorn, Karen Tilley, Nancy Van Vleet, Ken Watkins, Connie Williamson, Van Woodell, Amy Woods, Carter Wrenn, Lisa Wyngaarden.

GAA encourages physical fitness

Any girl who was interested in participating in sports throughout the year joined GAA. This club promoted physical fitness by playing such intramural sports as badminton, basketball, softball, tennis and volleyball. GAA also sponsored the National Physical Fitness Test and gave merit badges to girls who placed highest. In the spring the DHS and Hillside chapters of GAA had a joint playday where they competed in relay races and volleyball games. ## Wildlife Club takes hunting trips

Newly organized this year, the Wildlife Club took several hunting trips. The racoon and rabbit hunts usually lasted for a day, but camping trips and a deep sea fishing trip were planned for several weekends. In addition to these trips, the club went skeet shooting and saw several films about wildlife. Tim Oates, president; Andy Ralston, vice-president; Mr. Glenn Bunting, advisor. ## Math Club members inspect computers

President Carole Eisenberg and Chuck Trull put the finishing touches on the "geomtree."

Math Club members set up a "geomtree" display in a showcase in the science building. A field trip was taken to Home Security Life Insurance Co. to inspect the computers. Mr. Peter Hutt, an exchange teacher from England who is one of the club's advisors, showed members various tricks that can be performed mathematically. Math National Honor Society is composed of those members of the Math Club with a B+ average. Officers of the Math Club serve as the officers of the Math National Honor Society. Members of both organizations are: Carole Eisenberg, president; Wayne Lewis, vice-president; Jane Clark, secretary; Renée Riggsbee, treasurer; Miss A.J. Williams and Mr. Peter Hutt, advisors. David Atkins, Steve Barker, Jerry Branch, Stephen Brewer, Mackie Bynum, Tula Cahoon, Charles Cheek, Linda Christian, Jeanne Clifford, David Colvard, Keith Craig, Tommy Cranford, Tommy Donegan, Judith Fein, David Fritz, George Glasson, Sandy Gordon, Virginia Hill, Sheila Hunt, Barbara Jones, Diana Jones, Ricky McLees, Mike Massey, Mary Moore, Sandy Moulton, Kit Nelson, Marilyn Newton, Stephen Olson, Kitty O'Shea, Pam Parrish, Randy Peacock, Bettie Nelle Ricca, Renée Riggsbee, Macon Singletary, Sandy Tapp, Chuck Trull, Becky Turner, Denise Weaver, Jim White. Future Teachers of America (F.T.A.) worked toward interesting students in the field of education. Mrs. Janet B. Francis, one of several speakers, talked to the club about teaching as a profession. The Teacher Aid Project, which supplied both a service and learning experiences, was started this year. Club members helped teachers during their study halls by checking papers, recording grades, preparing stencils, and assisting in many other ways. Sandy Tapp, president; Sandy Moulton, vice-president; Gwyn Dickson, secretary; Diana Strawbridge, treasurer; Miss Susan Cannon, advisor. # FHA dresses dolls for Salvation Army

This year the Future Homemakers of America held their meetings in each individual class period. Twice a month, the 173 girls gathered to hear speakers such as Mrs. Willie G. Boone of the DHS library and a representative from Thalheimers who demonstrated make-up. Several of the classes visited the cosmetology department, and as a special project, several girls dressed dolls for the Salvation Army at Christmas. Beverly Chance, president; Mrs. D. # Engineers take field trips

Members of the Engineers Club heard several speakers this year on such topics as architecture and civil and electrical engineering. A field trip was taken to WRDU Channel 28, where the members learned how television programs can be broadcast over telephone wires. The club also visited Liggett and Myers, Inc., where they observed the intricate machinery. ## AMCOTS visit local medical facilities

President Bettie Nelle Ricca discusses the trip to Watts Hospital with Carol Hodge and Susan Bloodworth.

Members of the AMCOT Club (American Medical Careers of Tomorrow) took advantage of the facilities in Durham to introduce themselves to the field of medicine. Field trips were taken to Duke and Watts hospitals, and Mrs. Jessie O'Neal, from the School of Nursing at Watts Hospital, spoke at a meeting on how doctors and nurses are trained. A community service of the club was the distribution of 1000 leaflets supporting the hospital bond, passed in the November elections. # Drafting class sponsors a Christmas dance

A difficult drafting problem holds the attention of most students.

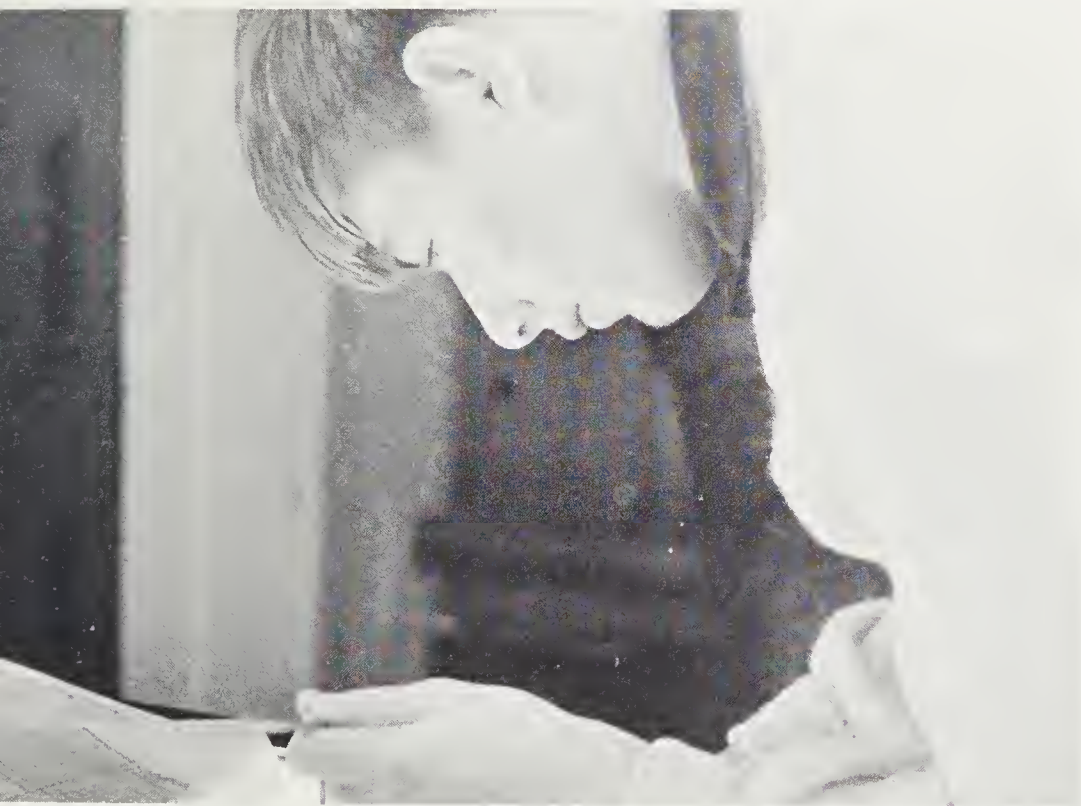

Members of the Drafting I and II Clubs of the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) began the year with two fund-raising projects: a popcorn booth was set up at the Durham County Fair, and a Christmas dance was held at Spruce Pine Lodge, with the Sour Honey Band playing. The proceeds from these projects went towards helping a needy family have an enjoyable Christmas. Ike Teer, president; Bill Coman, 1st vice-president; Alan Morgan, 2nd vice-president; Buddy Blackwelder, secretary; Robert Young, treasurer; Ralph Keaton, parliamentarian; Bobby Pickett, editor; Mr. Donald Burgin, advisor. Cooperative Office Occupations Club tried to promote interest in the business world, to encourage a better employer-employee relationship, and to develop a closer relationship among the members. The C.O.O. members had an opportunity to develop a sense of responsibility by dealing with the public and working toward future advancement in the business world. The club members participated in various service projects and social activities. Speakers and field trips throughout the year broadened the students' knowledge of the world of business. An annual employer-employee banquet was sponsored in the spring of the year. Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) sponsors activities which coordinate with the Distributive Education program. The club participated in Local, District, and State Leadership Conferences and Contests, at which competition was offered in such areas as job interviews, job demonstration, public speaking, and advertising. In addition to helping a needy family at Christmas, DECA also entered the DE sweetheart, Darleen King, and the officers in the Christmas parade. National DECA Month was observed in March with displays in town and a Parents' Night. In May, the club held the annual Employer-Employee Banquet at which students honored their employers. # ATHLETICS

Chosen by the majority of his rival coaches as the favorite in the Eastern 4-A Conference race, head football coach Bernie Blaney viewed the upcoming season with guarded optimism. There were several reasons for this cautiousness, the major reason being injuries. In pre-season drills the number of injuries ran high: Marvin Gossett, Charles Plummer and Brant Brock were all out indefinitely; and Bill Rand, David Smith and James Scoggins were all hampered by minor injuries. Despite this, the DHS gridders started what seemed to be a promising season, judging by the hours of practice rolled up, and the smoothness of action the 1968 team was beginning to develop.

This year the Durham High varsity football team started what seemed to be a promising season with a win in the contest with E. C. Glass High School of Lynchburg, Virginia. Although the game started out on a sour note with a fumble recovery and a consequent touchdown by Glass within the first ten seconds, the Bulldogs rallied in the second and third quarters to win 14 to 7. In this game, two key men came to light: Turrentine and Slade, whose performances were watched closely for the duration of the season.

The team showed their superiority and superb ball-playing ability in the Greensboro Grimsley game with 21-0 margin backed up by 247 yards rushing. This game not only proved DHS's starting team but showed the important role player by the second string, who came out and showed a fine performance.

Many D H S stars emerge this year

Team spirits and school support were at a peak after the 30-0 shutout over the previously undefeated Goldsboro unit. The key to this morale-building victory was the fine passing and receiving of Wilkins and Turrentine.

With a 3-0 record rolled up already, the team, coach and fans prepared for the upcoming bout with Wilmington's New Hanover, the only undefeated and unscored-upon team in the conference. Once again the DHS unit came through with 27-7 victory. The 5000 fans were kept on their feet constantly by 20 passes completed out of 22 by Turrentine and the dazzling runs of Slade. This was, as Coach Blaney phrased it "... another great team victory."

The victories up to this point were based on team unity and continued to be for the rest of the season. The contest with Raleigh-Enloe proved to be no exception, with DHS breaking through for their fifth consecutive win. This game also had its outstanding moments such as the fourth quarter showstoppers staged by Mike Moore. The most spectacular play by Moore was the 70 yard touchdown punt return.

1968 football season develops many D H S

The power running of halfback Mike Slade once again led the Bulldogs to victory for their eighth consecutive win. The 20-6 verdict over the Jacksonville Cardinals assured DHS a spot in the State 4-A playoffs while ending the slim chance that Jacksonville had. It was also in this game that Turrentine broke the standing record of 10 touchdown passes in a season set by Brad Evans in 1966. "The Stick" completed 17 TD passes.

With two more regular season games ahead, the squad prepared for the upcoming bout with Raleigh Broughton. Once again, the varsity team broke loose in the last half to clinch the game by a 28-14 victory and also to secure the Eastern 4-A Championship. This last-half comeback proved to be the rule this season, rather than the exception, and led the DHS unit to the 11-1 record it compiled.

Rocky Mount succumbed to the Bulldogs in a 28-0 contest, which ended DHS's regular season with a perfect record. Two more records were set in this game: one for touchdown pass receptions by Gary Wilkins who completed 10, and one for David Harris's record for 28 out of 32 attempts for point-after-touchdown. This game set the stage for the game with the undecided foe in the State 4-A semifinals.

The follow up to the Enloe victory was the 21-6 win over Wilson's Fike High School. Durham's offense controlled the ball and the game by grinding out 120 yards on the ground and 71 in the air, as opposed by a 75 yard total by Wilson. The defensive team showed their determination with fine performances by Festus Cameron, Bruce Elliot, and Gary Wilkins. Also a superlative game was played by guard Artis Plummer. This contest could be only summed up in the words of Coach Blaney, "... a sweet victory ... as usual, a great team victory."

One of the finest games played this season, in view of the circumstances, was the 14-13 thriller with Fayetteville. In this contest, the credit for the victory went mainly to the defensive team, who came through in the last half to play the finest game they played all year. The turning point was a 40 yard chase and tackle by center Dana Addison. Although Fayetteville went on to score the touchdown from the one yard line, the revived spirits on the Durham side led to another victory.

Desire to win plays an important role

Having defeated Wilson earlier in the season, the Bulldogs felt that they were well prepared to face the Cyclones in the second round of the Eastern 4-A semifinals. However, a shock was in store for Durham. Despite a touchdown pass by Tommy Turrentine to Chuck Brantley late in the first quarter, the Cyclones managed to come back in the second quarter. In the last quarter Wilson broke loose, bringing the final score to 21-7. The blame for the Bulldogs' only defeat cannot be placed on any specific error or fault. As Coach Bernie Blaney said, "Wilson just wanted to win the game more than we did." This ended Durham's season with an 11-1 won-lost record.

At the close of the season, Charles Cheek mirrors the feelings of the team.

condition for spring track

Gary McCall, Leland Garner, Bill Cherry and Bob Weaver practice after school.

The cross-country season was largely a repetition of last year's season: a quick succession of defeats. However, these losses didn't seem to bother the team, for the practice was not wasted. Many members of the cross-country team went on to become track team members and looked back on this early practice as good conditioning. Coach Frank Evans and Captain Bob Weaver, reviewing the past season, were most disappointed by the lack of school support, an important factor for any winning team.

A highly successful season comes to a close

The Bulldog grapplers, coached by Sam Arbes, proved to be the best team organized on DHS record. The season opened with a match with Sanderson, which Durham took, 41-18. The later bout with Sanderson also went to Durham, 35-16. The second match, with Durham pitted against Raleigh-Broughton, ended with a 23-33 Broughton victory. Later in the season, however, the Bulldogs came back to hand NBH a 24-22 defeat in a very close match.

In the third contest, the DHS matmen marched by Raleigh-Enloe with a 46-11 margin, to come up against powerful Fayetteville, a chief rival for the regional honors. The Bulldogs looked forward to the end-of-the-season return match.

Durham then proceeded to take the fifth and seventh contests from Wilson, 30-26 and 39-20, in that order.

Enloe, once again, fell to the Bulldogs' superior team 35-16, leaving only one more regular season match, Fayetteville.

Outstanding wrestlers for Durham throughout the season were 112 lb. sophomore John Katzenmeyer, 120 lb. senior Charles Cheek, 165 lb. senior and East Central District Champion Earl Liles, and 197 lb. senior Festus Cameron, all undefeated going into the last match. All but Katzenmeyer are veteran lettermen.

Despite the loss of the first two basketball games to Greensboro-Grimsley, no one connected with the Bulldogs had anything but optimism concerning the rest of the 1968-1969 season. Losing by only a few baskets in both games, the Bulldogs showed their toughness and determination by winning the next five games. Highlights of this winning streak were a 57-54 triumph over Myer's Park-Charlotte, who defeated DHS the year before; and the magnificent victory over Rocky Mount with a 106-57 score. A superb zone defense and a fast break marked this game as a high point of the season. The other teams defeated were Fayetteville-Terry Sanford, Jacksonville and Wilson Fike. Losing next to Raleigh Enloe in double overtime by a shot from mid-court at the buzzer, Durham's conference record was 4-1.

The Bulldogs scramble for two points against Raleigh Broughton.

After a 61-53 win over Raleigh Broughton, the Bulldogs pulled off the upset of the entire season by defeating the Wilmington Wildcats, the defending State 4-A Champions. Then after defeating Goldsboro by Tommy Turrentine's one basket, Durham had another close call with the Fayetteville Bulldogs but defeated them by an 18 point margin. Andy Soloman's jump shot with 16 seconds left provided a DHS victory over Asheville. Wesley Johnson's larceny in the last seven minutes of the Jacksonville game was the key to another Durham victory.

Despite the several close games, the Bulldogs settled down to defeat Wilson soundly with a 69-44 score. Wilson had a special "Fill the Gym" night for Durham, but this pressure did not stop Durham. Defeating Rocky Mount next gave the Bulldogs their eighth victory in a row. Squeezing by on a fourth-quarter effort, DHS defeated Raleigh Broughton, 50-44. Due to some early missed shots, Durham was defeated by Wilmington in the next game. Defeating Goldsboro next by 16 points, the Bulldogs showed that despite the loss to Wilmington, they would still have a position in the state playoffs.

After defeating Wilson 66-50 in the last home game, Durham traveled to Wilmington to face Fayetteville in the Eastern 4-A Semi-finals. Defeating Fayetteville 64-47, DHS moved into the finals with Wilmington who had beaten Enloe 46-23. The Bulldogs took an early lead in the first quarter against Wilmington, but the Wildcats slowly caught up and the score at the half was 28-28. The third quarter was close, but the Bulldogs led by four at the end of the stanza. With 40 seconds left, Wilmington scored two foul shots and the score was 49-48. Andy Soloman went to the foul line next and missed. Wilmington rebounded. After a Wildcat time out, Soloman intercepted a pass and held the ball for the remaining few seconds. Winning this game gave Durham the Eastern 4-A Championship.

Durham next traveled to Greensboro to compete in the State 4-A Championship. In the semi-finals, Durham took on Winston-Salem Reynolds. Despite a 14 point lead at the half, Reynolds slowly tore down Durham during the third quarter to tie the score as the final quarter began. With 58 seconds left, Chico Ray put Durham ahead by one point, but a shot in the final seconds of the game gave Reynolds the game, 51-50.

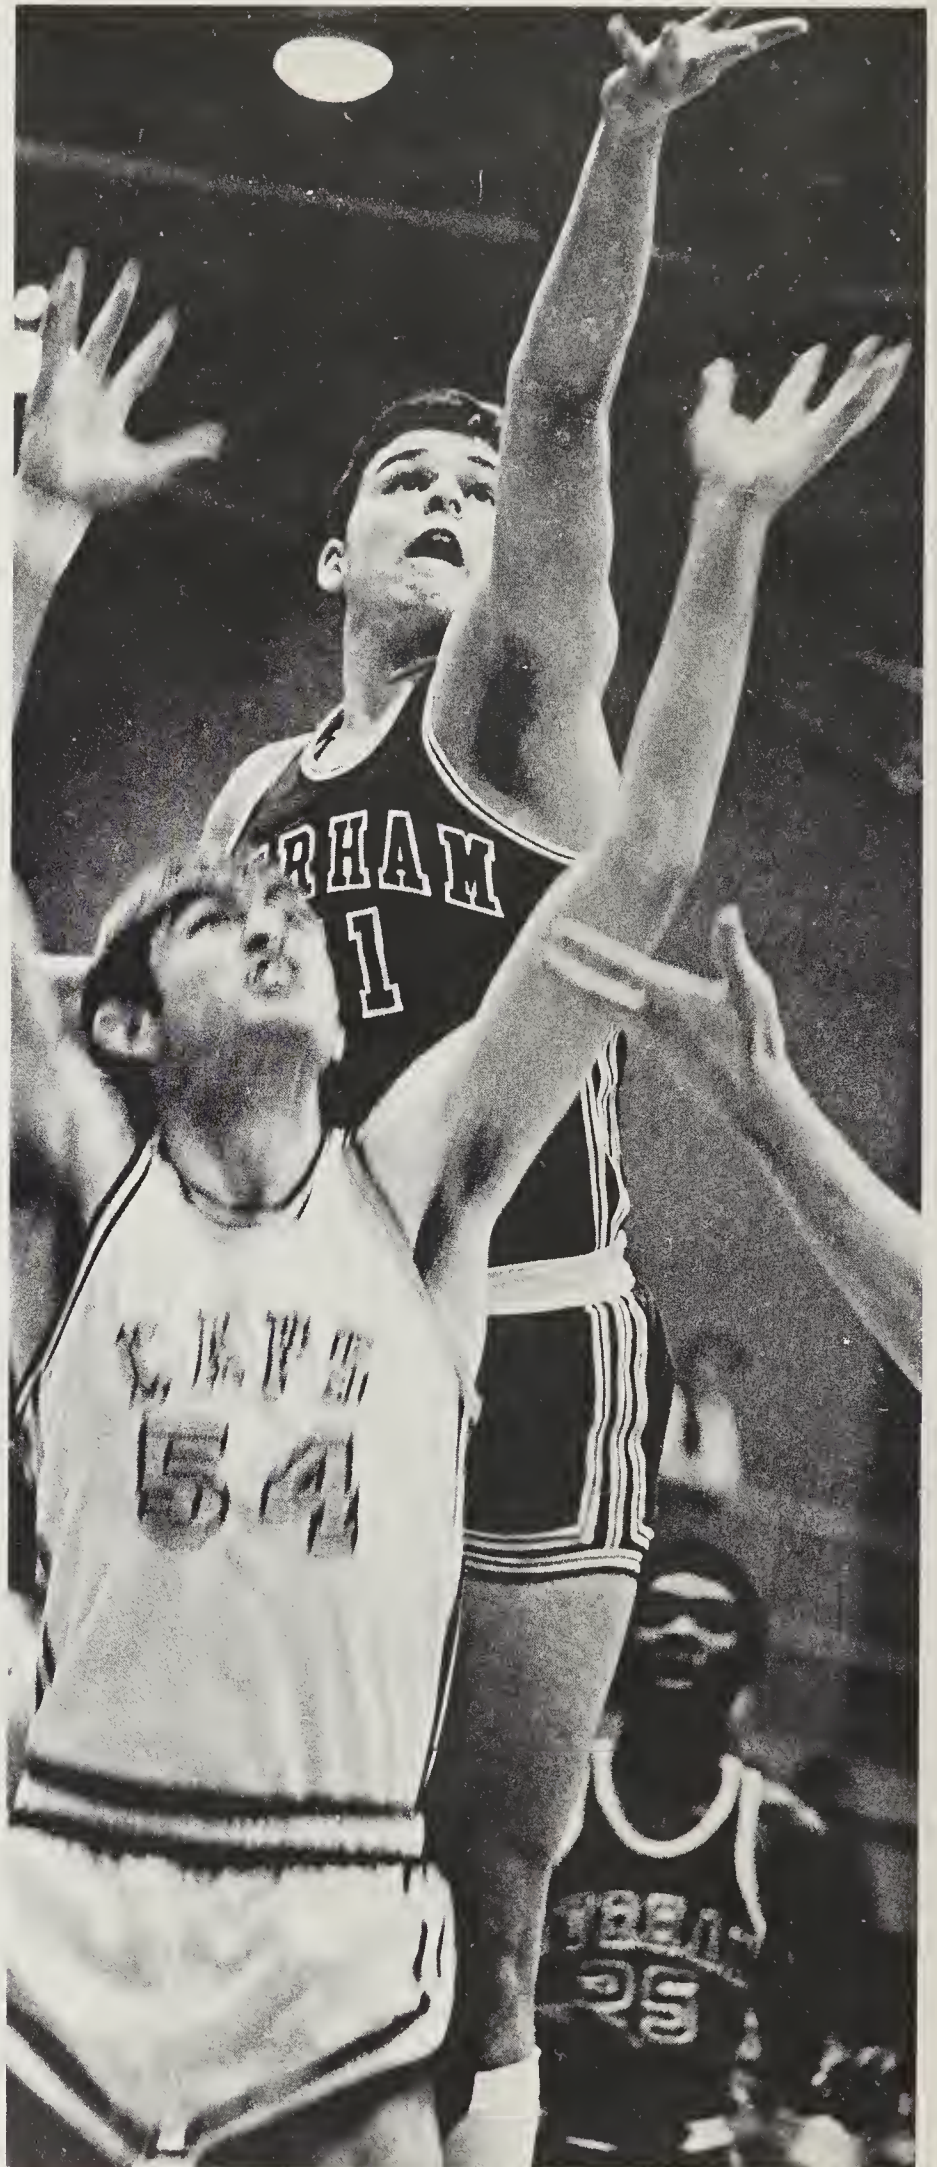

The Bulldogs ended their fine season with a record of 19-5. With predictions that the club would have little chance to reach the play-offs, the Bulldogs proved that they were able to give an excellent showing.

The Junior Varsity netters came through with a perfect record, downing all but one opponent decisively. The closest game was the contest with Raleigh Broughton in which DHS emerged victorious 65-64.

The sophomore unit was compiled around the six starters: Linwood Burden, Rick Kellam, James Womble, Lee Gibbs, Stuart Young, and Lee Carr. The two leading scorers for the season were Rick Kellam and Lee Gibbs with 13.5 and 13.8 records respectively.

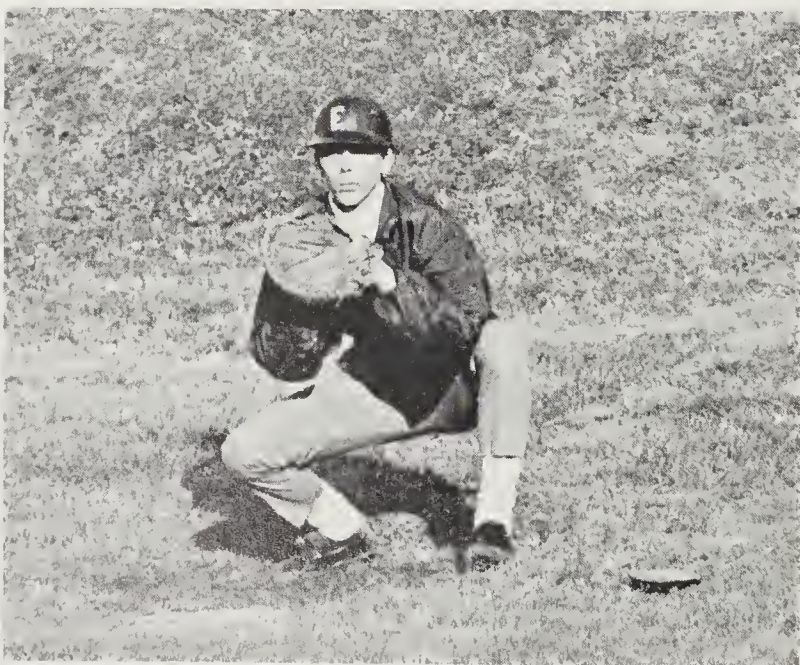

Kneeling: Guerry Cox, Lee Carr, Johnny Garrett, Lee Gibbs, Ricky Kellam. Standing: Coach Mike Brown, Stewart Young, Linwood Burden, John Byrch, Jerry Alford, James Womble.

New coach works to build up baseball team

Bill Rand winds up.

The baseball team had six returning lettermen: Chuck Brantley, James Adams, David Harris, Bill Rand, Johnny Garrett, and David Woodside, and a new crop of sophomores. Despite last year's record of 6-8, the team hoped for a better season, playing such teams as Hillside, Fayetteville, Enloe, Wilson, and the Duie and Caroline freshmen.

Ronnie Field watches that Harold Bailey doesn't step across the line on the broad jump.

Despite last year's disappointing record, Coach Buddy Dixon was optimistic concerning the 1969 track team. Coach Dixon was helped by coaches Frank Evans and Bernie Blaney. Returning lettermen this year were Bob Weaver, L. E. Boykin, Ivy Barnette, Festus Cameron, Dana Addison, Gary Wilkins, Johnny Hurtz, Charles Plummer, and Phil Inscoe. New prospects for this season included Kim Coman, Marvin Maddox, Gary McCall, Leland Garner, and Mike King. This year the team ran against Hillside, Wilson, Fayetteville, Wilmington, Rocky Mount and other conference teams.

Golfers begin early spring practice

The golf team opened its season with a round against the Carolina freshman team. Other games played were against such conference teams as Wilmington and Rocky Mount. The two returning lettermen, Randy Saunders and Tommy Turrentine, and a large group of sophomores, provided an excellent record for the golf team. Golf was coached by Paul Williamson.

Tommy Turrentine has a few practice swings before driving.

Returning lettermen strengthen tennis team

Peter Preston returns a serve during an early tennis practice.

The 1968-69 DHS tennis team, with six returning lettermen and a new field of sophomores, looked forward to a great season. Wilmington, the undefeated state champions last year, provided the only competition for the squad. The tennis team was coached by Samuel Arbes.

A Durham City policeman told the student body what it means to be a "cop", pep rallies shook the gym with loud cheers, and students met with representatives from various colleges during College Night. Throughout the year activities such as these added another dimension to school life. Even those who slept through classes laughed at a Club Fair skit, watched as the new Student Council members were inducted or listened to the Carolina Choir.

Kippy Durham, the homecoming queen, receives roses from Debbie Boyle and Keith Craig.

Homecoming Week was dedicated to helping Stevie Spirit regain his memory which he lost at a football game when he became so excited that he fell out of the stands on his head. During the week students wore cowboy clothes to help him remember his childhood, bandages and mourning clothes in sympathy with his accident, and finally red and white to help him regain his school spirit. Friday night a dance was held, and Saturday afternoon a picnic preceded the homecoming football game which was climaxed by the crowning of Kippy Durham, homecoming queen.

Seniors sewed costumes, memorized lines, and built sets to present the play Camelot, the Senior Class project. Set in medieval England, the play shows the love triangle between King Arthur, his lovely wife Guenevere, and his best knight and friend, Lancelot. Betsy Lindsey directed the students with assistance from Mrs. Smalling, Senior Class advisor; Mrs. Sharpe, choral director; Mr. Fleming, band director; and Keith Craig, producer. The cast was as follows: King Arthur, Mark Ashley; Guenevere, Cris Sessoms; Lancelot, Vince Sorgi; Merlyn, Peter Baker; Pellinore, Rick Miller; Mordred, Michael Lakin; Morgan Le Fey, Claudia Harris; Tom of Warwick, Sandy Gordon; Sir Dinaden, Robert Bressler; Sir Lionel, Harold Barmette; Sir Sagamore, Ken Watkins; Lady Anne, Bettie Nelle Ricca; Lady Sybil, Susan Jackson; Lady Catherine, Janet Krigbaum; Squire Dap, Harry Burger; Guillian, Chuck Brantley; Colgrevance, Doug Griffin; Bliant, Steve O'Shea; Castor, Johnny Freeman; Clarius, Winston Rogers; Nimue, Janice Welch; Heralds: Tim Nash, Tommy Harrington, Joe Wilson; Pages: Pug Malone, Alton Parrish; Knights: David Adcock, Tom McIntosh, Tim Oates, Charles Billings. Members of the chorus were: Dee Bennett, Susan Allen, Debbie Pifer, Barbara Richardson, Betty Fuller, Jo Andrews, Donna Mallard, Julia Ingram, Diane Hackney, and Iowana Chandler.

Director Betsy Lindsey blocks Rick Miller, Vince Sorgi, and Cris Sessoms in one of the first rehearsals.
